FOUNDED 100 YEARS AGO IN TENNESSEE

Cumberland Presbyterian Church is Celebrating Its Centennial Anniversary Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 4.—Throughout the South and in all other parts of the country where congregations
of the Cumberland Presbyterian church are to be found, celebrations
are being held today in honor of the centennial anniversary of the denomination, which was given birth in a little log cabin in the backwoods of Tennessee on February 4, 1810. From every pulpit of the church centennial sermons are to be preached next Sunday, and the anniversary will be further observed with appropriate exercises under the auspices of the educational, missionary and other societies
sustained by the church.

The origin of the Cumberland Presbyterian church is to be found in the great religious revival which arose over Kentucky and Tennessee
at the beginning of the nineteenth century. There existed at the time a great need of additional ministers in that section. As a consequence the Presbytery of Cumberland, which had been formed from the Presbytery of Transylvania in 1802, increased and ordained a number of young Presbyterians who had not received the required
classical and theological training for the ministry. This action, which was taken on the recommendation of Rev.
Mr. Rice, the oldest Presbyterian minister in Kentucky, was contrary to the rules and traditions of the church and aroused considerable opposition. The synod of Kentucky refused to sanction the act and dissolved the Cumberland Presbytery in 1806. This decision was partly confirmed by the General Assembly, which withheld its sanction of the new movement but manifested a willingness to recognize the Cumberland Presbytery as an independent organization.

Differences of doctrinal belief also entered the controversy, especially with reference to the Confession of Faith.
This finally resulted in the withdrawal of the dissatisfied members and the formation of an independent presbytery, called the Presbytery of Cumberland, in 1810.

It was on February 4, 1810, that the first presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church was organized in what is now Dixon county, Tennesssee, but which was then known as Cumberland county. Three ministers,
Philip Bowling, Samuel King and Samuel McAdow, were the organizers. King called on McAdow at his old log cabin
and laid the question before him of forming an independent presbytery.
McAdow spent the night in prayer
and on the following morning announced his readiness to join the organization. It was agreed that the adherents of the new church should recognize as their standard of doctrine the Confession of Faith of the Presbyterian Church, but provision was made to meet the objections of those opposed to the so-called fatalistic teachings.

The new church grew in three years to a synod composed of three presbyteries and numbering sixty churches. The first synod was formed November 3, 1812, at Lebanon church,
Christian county, Kentucky. On Oct.
27, 1828, at Franklin, Tennessee, the first synod adjourned since then, after
it had divided itself into four synods
preparatory to the organization of a general assembly.

The General Assembly held its first meeting in Princeton, Kentucky, in May, 1829. In the proceedings of the church had established a college in Princeton, which was afterward removed to Lebanon, Tennessee, and chartered as Cumberland University.

who under the name of King obtained
sixty dollars from Manager Squires
of the Myers Hotel some time ago,
posing at that time as an advance
agent for a theatrical production that had no existence.

ESCAPED GALLOW AT ELEVENTH HOUR

Jacob Oppenheimer Is Happiest Prisoner in Big Penitentiary at San Quentin, Cal.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 4.—One of the happiest men in the big prison at San Quentin is Jacob Oppenheimer, whose life would have been ended on
the gallows today but for a writ of error granted almost at the eleventh hour by the State supreme court.
The light to save Oppenheimer's life
has been carried on vigorously for the past three years and not until the supreme court of the United States
has had an opportunity to pass upon the validity of the California statute
under which he was sentenced to death with his fate he finally determined. While trying to escape from San Quentin Oppenheimer slashed a treaty with a broadsword. At the time he was serving a life sentence for killing a man. He was sentenced under a law which provides the death penalty for a life-term convict who attempts a guard of fellow-convict.

ADJOURNMENT IN BALLINGER PROBE

Committee Defers Further Hearings
Until Feb. 11 to Permit Preparation by Defendant's New Council.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—In order to permit the arrival in the city of counsel for Secretary Ballinger and to allow the counsel to become familiar with the case, the Ballinger-Pinchot
committee has adjourned until Feb.
11th.

The president has shown an active interest in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation. Apparently he concluded from the report of the inquiry so far published that the case was not proceeding thus far in a judicial manner and he has insisted on the retention of counsel to represent the administration officers.

EASTERN BASEBALL LEAGUE MEETING

More Than a Score of Officials and Managers Are at Montreal Arranging the Schedule.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Montreal, Feb. 4.—The annual spring meeting of the Eastern Baseball League opened at the Windsor Hotel in this city today with more than a score of officials and managers in attendance. Owing to the large amount of important business to be disposed of it is expected that it will be the first of the week before
the meeting concludes.

The adoption of the schedule is the first important item of business on the program. President Pat Powers has prepared a schedule which will probably be adopted without change.
It provides for a season of 154 games,
the same as last year. The opening dates are as follows: Wednesday,
April 21, Buffalo at Baltimore; Thursday, April 22, Rochester at Newark; Monday at Jersey City, Toronto at Providence.

Outside of business pertaining to schedules, there is much interest in the adoption of a new constitution,
as was agreed upon at the annual meeting in New York last fall. The amended constitution is also expected to raise the salary limit question. There was a limit last year, and some of the clubs were accused of disregarding it. Some of the managers
now favor removing the law altogether or placing it so high that it won't conflict with sliding scale preferred.

LIVESTOCK EXPRESS RATES EXCESSIVE

Wisconsin Breeders Pledged Themselves to Co-Operate With Milwaukee Association for Re-Adjustment.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—Wisconsin
livestock breeders have pledged themselves to aid in the fight for lower rates started by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Milwaukee, in resolutions adopted at its annual meeting here this week, the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association pledged its co-operation to the end. They also want a longer time for tuberculin test certificates on cattle sent into Minnesota.

The resolutions were as follows:
"Resolved, That this association consult with the Minnesota Live Stock Sanitary board asking them to extend the time from thirty days to six months for tuberculin test certificates on cattle sent into that state. This thirty-day rule makes it almost impossible for an honest breeder to ship
cattle into Minnesota.

"Resolved, That we, as members of this association, unqualifiedly endorse
every effort put forth by our legislative committee in the effort to secure an appropriation from the state which will be commensurate to the needs
and possibilities of this association,
which we believe can and will have much to do with advancing the livestock industry of Wisconsin.

"Resolved, That the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association in annual convention assembled go upon record
as highly pleased with the efforts
which are being put forth by the members of the State Board of Agriculture to make the Wisconsin state fair
a highly representative exhibition of the best livestock the state can produce.

"Resolved, That the fair associations of the state be urged to make livestock improvement the main feature of the fair and that members of livestock breeders' associations use all legitimate means to secure a clean
fair; that is, free from objectionable features.

"Whereas, the express rates upon livestock appear to be unreasonably
high, be it resolved, that the officers
of this association lend all aid within their power to the Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Milwaukee and co-operate with them in their efforts before the Wisconsin railroad

INGALLS' VIEWS ON HIGH PRICES

RACINE ASSEMBLYMAN GIVES ANALYSIS OF SITUATION.

WOULD WITHHOLD JUDGMENT

Regarding Part Trucks and Combinations May Have Played Until Examinations Are Under Way.

Assemblyman Wallace Ingalls of Racine believes that the present high cost of foodstuffs may be due to a large number of contributory causes such as extravagance, the failure of supply to keep pace with demand, and such artificial barriers as the 25 cents per bushel tariff on Canadian wheat and 25 per cent ad valorem duty on flour, as well as to the large and small monopolies and combinations which are conspiring to manipulate the supply and keep prices at a high level. While in Janesville today he made the following observations:

"The cost of actual living to those dependent upon moderate, fixed incomes, wages, and ordinary salaries, is causing widespread alarm and speculation is rife regarding the cause. In the midst of prosperity and just after the harvesting of an unprecedented crop, we find congress and legislatures and federal courts endeavoring to ascertain the causes, the general impression being that such unusual conditions are largely due to unusual combinations, trusts, and monopolies.

"These investigations may demonstrate this not to be true. Judgment as to this ought to be withheld pending the examinations, for no condemnation is too severe for a combination of capital that will work for its own profit to compel by monopolistic methods a defenseless people to pay an abnormal price for foodstuffs, and the punishment for such a crime ought to be incarceration in the penitentiary. A fine will serve no purpose. Some attribute conditions to extravagance, others to the tariff, but aside from the effect which the tariff on wheat and flour may have the law of supply and demand is probably the cause.

"The remedy is to produce more of cattle, hogs, sheep and wheat. This you can have by more people engaging in agriculture, by more people becoming producers instead of consumers merely. The production of these articles of foodstuffs has not kept pace with the consumption power of the country. Immigration stops in the cities and industrial centers, boys leave the farms. The idea being that farm life is dull and has no future. They forget that it takes as much genius, courage and brain power to become a successful farmer as it does to succeed in other business.

"To this point let us inquire for instance as to the production of wheat, beef, pork and mutton, covering a period of thirty years last past in the United States. From statistics which are authentic and reliable, the accuracy of which can be verified by anyone, the information is disclosed that from 1880 to 1900, meat cattle, other than dairy cows, increased in number from 27,222,413 in 1880, to 35,208,195 in 1900; an increase of 8,025,782, or just about 29 1/2 per cent.

"While the population of the country during the same period increased from 50,189,200 in 1880 to 75,363,287 in 1900, or an increase of 25 per cent.

"Thus the increase in the number of meat cattle compared to the increase of population during this period of twenty years mentioned was less by 22 1/2 per cent.

"The increase in milk cows failed to keep pace with the population during this same period by 17 per cent.

"Strange as it may appear, the number of meat cattle in the country since 1900 during every year up to the present time has been less than the number in existence since 1900, with the single exception of the year 1907 when there were 380,000 more than in the year 1900.

"So that it may be safely stated that there has been no increase in the number, excepting as stated, since 1900, while the population of this country since 1900 has increased 20 per cent.

"The result is that the increase in number of meat cattle during the last thirty years has failed to keep pace with the population by about 42 1/2 per cent.

"It may be said that perhaps the scarcity and consequent high prices now prevailing is due to large exports, but this is not so, for since 1900 the exports of beef and pork have largely fallen off.

"The same condition exists with reference to the production of hogs. In 1880 the number was 49,772,670, and in 1900, 62,868,041; an increase of 13,095,371; being an increase in number of 26 per cent, or just one-half the increase in population during the same period.

"On the contrary, to the common belief, there has been no year since 1900 when the number has been as great as that year. The consequence is, that the increase in the production of hogs, has failed to keep pace with the population in the last thirty years by 46 per cent.

"The number of sheep raised has fallen off in much greater proportion than either hogs or cattle.

"The above facts would seem to throw some light on the question of whether or not the law of supply and demand does or does not figure largely in the cause for the high food prices of today, for it here plainly appears that the consuming power or population has outstripped the supply by nearly 50 per cent. In other words the demand is nearly double, while the supply has remained practically stationary for at least ten years last past.

"Let us further consider whether or not the same line of reasoning based on similar sources of information may not throw light upon the price of wheat and flour, the basis of food of life.

"From 1880 to 1900 the acreage of wheat only increased 11 8-10 per cent, while the population as heretofore stated increased 52 per cent. And since 1900 the acreage and yield has in no sense kept pace with the increase in population. This is also true of many other agricultural food products.

"As to the high prices of wheat and flour, the tariff is unquestionably responsible in a measure. The duty on a bushel of wheat is 25 cents and on flour it is 25 per cent ad valorem. Canada, our next door neighbor, is a rival of the United States in the production of these staples and raised last year some 17,000,000 bushels.

"Congress, well knowing that production was not keeping pace with consumption, should have substantially lowered this tariff.

"May the time speedily come when our tariff duties will be fixed by an independent, high-minded, non-political commission. Then the subject will be treated from a national standpoint instead of a local one."

EVANSVILLE HIGHS VERSUS JANESVILLE

Two Basketball Teams Play in Gymnasium of Local School This Afternoon.

At four o'clock this afternoon the Evansville high school basketball team is to try conclusions with the Janesville high school team in the gymnasium of the local school.

Whether or not the Janesville team will have a chance to take part in the tournament for the state championship, "The Evansville school has a strong team and the outcome of the contest is decidedly uncertain, although the Janesville students predict a victory for their own team. It is thought that they will not be able to play and it falls upon a substitute, probably McDonald, to make good in his place. The most formidable adversary of the Evansville quintet is Turner, one of the crack players of the Evansville team, who has been in the game for several years and at basketball throwing him but few equals. The locals are swift on the floor and if they can exceed in speed the Cut-off City aggregation they have a good chance of winning.

BIG DEBATE TO BE HELD THIS EVENING

Beloit and Janesville High School Speakers Meet in Semi-Finals Contest at Beloit.

An event that has aroused the interest and loyalty of the students of the high school to its highest point is the debate between the representatives of the Janesville high school and the team of the Beloit high school at Beloit tonight. The question to be discussed is: "Resolved, That for the next ten years the federal government should annually expend fifty million dollars for the improvement and construction of her inland waterways; constitutionally conceded."

The Janesville team will discuss the negative side of the question, George Yahn, Will Hyde and Lewis French presenting their arguments against the improvement and construction of waterways. On the ability of these young men is placed the hopes of the student body of the local school, and it is their firm belief that the young men will fulfill their expectations. It is known that the Beloit school has put forth additional efforts this year to win, and that if the Janesville team gets the decision it will be no easy matter. Beloit lost the debate last year and their defeat was bitter medicine to swallow and the taste one that they did not care to cultivate, and they feel confident of a victory this year.

The debate is to be held in the assembly room of the new high school. Superintendent F. E. Converse of the Line City schools will preside at the contest and Dean Breg of the University of Wisconsin, Prof. L. B. Davies of Delavan, and Prof. Waugh of Beloit college will be the judges.

After the decision of judges a banquet will be given in the domestic science rooms for the debaters from both sides the judges and the members of the senior classes. The visiting delegation from Janesville will also be invited.

Toasts will be called for from the members of the debating teams, the judges, the faculty and the students.

PRINCE AGREED TO LEAVE THE COUNTY

Black "Prince Henry" Promised Never to Set Foot in Rock County Again.

"You can make it the whole state of Wisconsin if you want to," said Henry Prince, the Beloit negro, this morning when he signed an agreement to stay out of Rock County for the remainder of his natural life or serve a term in jail for the offense charged against him. "I don't like this town or the county or the state and I'm going to Chicago and stay there."

Prince was arrested last Friday night and arraigned in municipal court Saturday on a charge of vagrancy and lewd behavior. He pleaded not guilty and his examination was set for this morning, but when his case was called it was thought best to hold the case against him open on condition that he sign an agreement to shun Rock County for all time. This he promised to do.

ELBRIDGE FIFIELD AT WESTERN SCHOOL

Former Janesville Young Man Taking Prominent Part in Athletics at Everett, Wash.

Elbridge Fifield, a former Janesville boy, who moved from this city with his parents to Everett, Wash., is taking a prominent part in the high school athletics in that city. Fifield played with the Everett high school football team this fall and is now a member of the basketball five of the school and has made good in athletic lines in this, his first year in the western city. A new high school has just been completed in Everett, which will accommodate six hundred pupils. The number of pupils attending is undoubtedly large and it is a signal honor for him that he, a newcomer, should be selected for a regular position with the team. As an athlete in the games and contests at the high school and Y. M. C. A. in this city, Fifield was always one of the best, and a record he is making in the west is a continuance of his good record here.

After working eleven days for the C. & N. W. Ry., William Kampp of Sharon had just eleven cents in his possession when he appeared in municipal court this morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness. His case was adjourned one week in order to give him a chance to pay a fine amounting to $3. Charles Cullen, who looked as if he had tried to skate on his nose, acknowledged that he had been drunk and went to jail for six days in default of enough money to pay a fine of $4 and costs.

COMMITTEE VIEWED MAIN OUTLET SEWER

Official Inspection Made Yesterday Afternoon—Impression Was Favorable.

Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, the street assessment committee, composed of Mayor W. F. Carle, City Engineer C. V. Kereh, Alderman J. J. Sheridan, and Alderman Geo. E. Kimball made an official inspection of the main outlet sewer and the siphon. Alderman J. W. Clark was the only member absent. Accompanying the party were Inspector George Craft and a representative of the People's Construction company.

From what can be learned, the committee was wholly satisfied with the system and will undoubtedly report favorably on the acceptance of the work at the next meeting of the council. There still remains some slight repairs to be made on one of the manholes at the west side main, but when these are completed, the outlet for the waste main, which at present in the storm sewer on Center street, will be blocked and the flow diverted into the outlet.

HOW A TRADITION BECAME A CERTAINTY

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN.
(Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.)

When about 1830 in Virginia a little girl baby came to Colonel and Mrs. St. Leger the colonel, whose ancestors had come to Virginia from Georgia, insisted on naming his daughter after the latter state. Little Georgia was assigned a nurse, a slave named Rose. There are certain children who seem to have been transplanted from heaven, and Georgia was one of them. From the time she could toddle she was adored by her father's slaves, first of all by her "mammy." She was an only child and heir to one of the finest estates in the Old Dominion.

When Georgia became of a marriageable age she had many suitors, from among whom she chose Edgar Bedell, a young attorney. Bedell's ancestors had lived in the north from the time they had landed in America in 1600. After being graduated at college he had gone south to tutor the sons of a wealthy planter, meanwhile studying law at the University of Virginia. Colonel St. Leger made it a condition of his marriage with Georgia that he should remain in the south.

In a year a child was born to them. It lived only two days, but the brief stay of the little stranger in its passage from the known to the unknown made a great change for the young couple—that is, a great change occurred at that time, for before the mother appeared again to the world the father had left Virginia for his former home in the north, never to return. No one outside the manor house saw Mrs. Bedell for many months after her confinement, and when she resumed her position as a well woman she neither visited nor received any except the slaves on the plantation. Among those who went as before, but with a blighted look on her face. No cause was given for the change in her or the departure and continued absence of her husband. Whether her father and mother were cognizant of it no one knew, but it was evident that the blight, whatever it was, had fallen on them as well as on the young couple.

Ten years passed, and a new generation was growing up. Those hearing of the Bedell case, as it was called, naturally assumed that something to the discredit of one of the other had occasioned the separation of the wedded pair. But if such were the case nothing that gave color to this suspicion ever leaked out. Besides, those who had known Mrs. Bedell as Georgia St. Leger would not admit that anything discreditable could ever be attributed to her, and, as for her husband, a planter returning from the north reported him as a prominent and much-respected member of the bar of New York.

Bedell had spoken in the highest terms of his wife, but did not even refer to the cause that had separated them. Mrs. Bedell never mentioned her husband, but did not give out the slightest hint that she had any cause to be dissatisfied with him.

Colonel St. Leger died and was soon followed by his wife, leaving Mrs. Bedell a large estate. She left its management to an overseer who had long enjoyed her father's confidence. This was noted by many who were hungry for her secret, they having been curious after her father's death to know if Bedell would not return and manage the estate for her.

Mrs. Bedell died at the opening of the civil war. Her husband was present at her funeral. Many hoped that he would at last drop some hint as to the cause of his having left his wife, but he spoke never a word and as soon as the burial had taken place left for his home. He was followed the next day by a letter from an attorney stating that his wife had left him her entire estate.

Bedell never took possession of the property till four or five years later, when it was nearly worthless. He became a prominent Federal officer in the civil war and on one occasion accompanied his troops on his own plantation. When he did take his inheritance he cut it up into small homes for those former slaves who remained upon it, giving each negro a title to his land. Bedell died ten years after the close of the war.

It seemed that with the death of the last person interested in the curious affair the secret would be buried forever. The very reverse of this occurred. Martha, Mrs. Bedell's "mammy," knew all and had been enjoined by her mistress to make it known after the death of all concerned should she live so long. Martha gave the explanation immediately after Bedell's death.

When the birth of Mr. and Mrs. Bedell was born Rose was astonished to note certain marks upon it indicating that there was a trace in it of negro blood. She had endeavored to conceal these marks from the mother, but failed. Mrs. Bedell discovered them, and the effect upon her may be readily understood. The ancestry of the child's father was above reproach, but for lack in the St. Leger family was a tradition that was made a certainty in the birth of this little innocent. Bedell had been willing and anxious to remain with his wife, but the effect upon her, taught by environment as well as by heredity to consider the black blood in her veins a taint, was far too serious to permit the sacrifice. She insisted on his never seeing her again, offering to assist him in securing a divorce, an offer he declined to accept.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

Attorneys at Washington progress from day to day with such amazing rapidity that the average person can not keep track of the latest moves of the "insurgents." One day they are against the government, denouncing Aldrich and his methods and the next we find them meekly gathering in some secret place and then sending a delegation to President Taft to announce they will be good boys and will do as he wants them to and follow the lead of this selfsame Aldrich. The Chicago Inter Ocean that calls a spade a spade and a club a club with fear of no man has the following to say on this interesting development of the man who would set the world afire with their revolution:

"Two interesting news items come from Washington. One is that Senator Aldrich has agreed to champion and get through the senate if possible what the president regards as the republican platform pledges, including postal savings banks, a federal incorporation law, clearer executive authority for conservation of the public domain, an interstate commerce court to decide more speedily railway rate controversies and statehood for Arizona and New Mexico.

"This news is not surprising. Though many republicans do not so read the platform of 1908 as to find in it any sort of pledge for a federal incorporation law, or a pledge for more than consideration of postal banks, by his persistent advocacy of these measures Mr. Taft has given them somewhat the aspect of party promises. As a party man Senator Aldrich is naturally averse to seeing his party in congress neglect to go with its president. And his proved faculty for leadership makes natural his willingness to exercise it.

"But the second item is surprising. It is that the insurgent republicans are not at all inclined to resent the designation of Senator Aldrich as the administration leader of the senate and are preparing to accept his leadership. When we remember how for months and years Mr. Aldrich has been the favorite aversion of pressed insurgency and of the magazine uplift—how he has rivaled Speaker Cannon as the insurgent example of the kind of leadership that congress ought not to have and that should be speedily abolished—we must confess that the news of the meek and compliant acceptance by the insurgents of the Aldrich leadership is astounding.

"Let us remember and reflect. Only a few weeks ago Senator Aldrich, like Speaker Cannon, was the target at which all the insurgent press, politicians and Chautauqua cannonadings were directed—was the black dog of the new tariff act and of everything else that the insurgents profess to abhor and at which every insurgent was preparing to heave bricks. At that time the position apparently was that while the insurgents might have the policies, or some of them, they were not, because of their persistent insurgency, to have the patronage. Then came the Hallinger-Pinchot controversy in the house, with its insurgent-democratic alliance.

"Then in a few days more the democrats found out what trust was to be put in insurgent promises, and about the same time there came along semi-official intimations that the insurgents might after all be given due consideration in the distribution of the leaves and fishes. And now comes the designation of Senator Aldrich as engineer-in-chief of the administration program and the insurgent acceptance of the Aldrich leadership.

"Can't it be that these high-souled gentlemen, whose voices have been lifted day and night to declare their distinction from the motives and manners in politics of the regular republicans, have been persuaded by patronage to forget their proud claims to a pre-eminent purity, and to accept a congressional leadership, perhaps including that of Speaker Cannon as well, which has had for so long their professions of abhorrence?"

"We do not know; we cannot tell; we are unskilled to trace the peculiar convolutions of the insurgent mind. But here is the insurgent acceptance, to all appearances most complacently, of the leadership of Senator Aldrich."

AN EXCELLENT DECISION
Evidently the decisions of the Wisconsin Supreme Court are most closely watched by the big financiers all over the country when cases which have reference to banks and banking laws are decided upon. The Wall Street Journal has the following to say on a recent opinion handed down at Madison that shows that Wisconsin is still on the map and kept close watch of:

"Wisconsin enjoys the advantage of excellent banking laws. Intelligently administered, and the supreme court there has handed down a decision which is well worth the attention of legislators everywhere. It has decided that it is a violation of the state banking law for a department store to conduct a banking business. 'The decision and the law under which it is rendered are commended to the attention of the banking department of this state and the legislature at Albany. We have frequently protested against the practice of department stores doing an unregulated, unsupervised banking business, with the most serious elements of danger in times of commercial stress. 'We are not informed as to whether the practice is at present illegal. If not, it should be made so at the earliest possible moment.'"

It is amusing to read of the great state-wide cry for the announcement of the candidacy of this candidate or that candidate for state or national office and know how much it costs per enthusiasm.

The man that has a barn full of hens who are alive and doing, has something better than a polecat-milking proposition to pay off the mortgage with.

Chicago has a new species of highwayman. They are garbed in evening clothes and ride in autos and rob right and left, leaving their victims lying in alleys while they start off for new fields.

Rural mail delivery may come later, but this spring it looks as though it was going to be by boats on some of the routes out of Janesville.

That Washington baby boy who must inherit a hundred million can never look back on the days when he was a poor boy struggling along at a small salary per week.

They say that the mine explosion in Colorado was caused by a foreigner lighting a cigarette. Well, some mines do not even have that excuse to offer for exacting a toll on human life.

Of course when a lot of assembly-men get together and discuss matters they do not really decide important matters. They merely have an excuse of meeting.

They may call this Cannon's political wake, but there are many men who will not believe he is dead until the coffin is lowered in the grave and then they will not be sure.

The interesting question is: When are the hens going to break that egg blockade? This is something that is more than interesting to the average housekeeper.

Chicago's graft stories are becoming so vivid that the ordinary juror's hair is probably standing up straight with no hopes of ever going down again.

That Anna Gould accumulated debts is not surprising. It is expensive to buy husbands of the sort who has purchased and then maintain them.

President Taft says his hardest work is writing a message. If this means that there will be few messages he will be cheerfully excused.

Selling disguised oleomargarine is a poor way of getting rich and Mr. Graham, who is now at Leavenworth prison, understands it, but, alas, too late.

The question of the postal savings banks promises to be a most interesting one for the general public to understand.

If the ship subsidy measure is dying for the affection of the insurgents it is very liable to expire with but few mourners.

"I will do as I please" does not sound well at any time, and some of the fields will one day say it once too often.

It would be a good joke on congress if the price of living should fall before they found out what caused it to rise.

Blanket indictments are calculated to keep the average man warm even in the coldest weather.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

OVERCOME!

To overcome or be overcome—that's the question. The successful man succeeds because he overcomes the difficulties in his way. The failure fails because he allows the difficulties to overcome him.

There are the Wright brothers. When these boys were running their little bicycle repair shop in Dayton, O., and were making experiments along the line of aerial flight the crankers said:

"Invent a machine heavier than air that will fly? Why, those boys are crazy. It can't be done."

It was done. And it was done by overcoming obstacles that others believed to be insurmountable.

When Cyrus Field proposed to lay a path for intelligence on the bottom of the ocean the mockers derided his folly.

But Field put his fortune into cable factories and built a great vessel for laying the cables. And when the line broke and people said "I told you so" he grappled the ends and tied them together to stay.

The impossible was achieved. When Whitney proposed to build the cotton gin wisecracks shook their heads: "Impossible. The fiber of the plant is too short. You can't do it."

But Whitney built his machine and wrote over it, "Cotton is king."

"Talk over a wire!" sneered the knackers when they heard of Bell's invention of the telephone. "Talk without a wire!" said the same disbelievers when told of wireless telegraphy.

Some people are only converted, like the Apostle Paul, by being struck by lightning. There was the Gunnison river. It was on the wrong side of the Rocky mountains. A daring government engineer proposed to bore a hole through the mountains and divert the stream.

"Why?" said the skeptics. "The other day President Taft touched a key out in the arid valley on the other side of the mountains, and the Gunnison river ran through the tunnel."

Overcome! It is a great word. It marks the difference between man and the beast. It is the keynote of the New Testament. "Overcome and you shall have the crown of life."

Will you overcome or be overcome? Which?

Great Cry of Cricket.
In certain parts of Germany it is regarded as a death warning to hear a cricket's cry.

Speed of Torpedo.
The torpedo leaves the gun at a rate of 40 knots an hour.

Bird Lore.
The hen is a meek and lowly bird, but she has done more for this country than the eagle ever will do.

"I am a thing that's fleeting," remarked the falling snow; "I come, so softly bending, upon the earth below; but when the sun is shining, I find my drifts declining, and with no vain replying to join the ghosts I go." The darkness said: "The morning will hold me up and rob; already there's a warning that I am off my job; I hear the whistles tooting aurora's beams are shooting; I must be getting out, without a baseless sob." The morning came in splendor, and said: "My time is short; a little, harmless bender, a few hours round of sport; then Noon my throne will sever; that ends my brief endeavor, and though I come back never, you will not hear me shout." Then up there rose a shadow, with sorrow on her brow; she said: "You make me mad, O! and here I'm badly, now; the years you have paraded are old and stale and faded; I have the whole bunch faded—I am the New Year Vow!"

Improvements For Artificial Teeth

I am making beautiful and practical sets of teeth these days. If your old plate is loose and fitting it probably is because your gums shrink away. A new impression will give your teeth a nice tight fit. Don't put up any longer with the continual annoyance of your misfit teeth.

How would you like the appearance of a perfect gold filling in one of the front teeth of your artificial set?

It makes them look natural and adds to the beauty and attractiveness of your personal appearance. I can do this work skillfully. The cost is not much and the improvement is wonderful.

I extract teeth painlessly.

TOWNSEND SAGER DIED SUDDENLY AT NOON TODAY

Old Resident of the City Drops Dead of Heart Disease Today.

Townsend Sager, an aged retired business man residing at 615 Center street, was suddenly stricken with heart failure this noon while driving north on Milton avenue with a load of fertilizer, and fell from the wagon and was dead when spectators reached his side.

His death occurred immediately in front of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Decker who happened to see him fall and hastened to his assistance. He was carried immediately into the Decker home and his relatives notified.

Mr. Sager was born in Sag Harbor, New York state and has been a resident of Janesville since 1861. He was sixty-seven years of age and leaves to mourn his loss a widow and two sons, William and Frank. Mr. Sager was for many years foreman in the wood shops of the Janesville Machine company, retiring a few years ago.

He was on his way to his farm north of the city when stricken with heart failure and his death was immediate, being lifeless before he was reached by those who saw him fall from the load. Notice of the funeral will be given later.

BELOIT COMMERCIAL CLUB HAD A MEETING

Booster's Organization Enjoyed Banquet and Interesting Session Last Evening.

Beloit, Wis., Feb. 3.—The Beloit Commercial club had a banquet at the Hotel Hilton last night and were addressed by ex-Mayor J. W. Groves and H. J. Castle of Madison. The club voted to have the annual dues $15 instead of $25, which was the fee last year. The expectation is to get one hundred members. Various matters concerning the business interests of the city were discussed. The freight rates is one matter that will be looked into. Former Mayor Groves told of the work of the Forty Thousand club of Madison and some of the things accomplished. Mr. Castle spoke of the necessity of defending home trade in a local and a general way and concluded with an appeal to buy American goods at American prices rather than European goods at European prices, at the cost of opportunity to American workmen.

The work of cleaning the lot for the new business building of the J. P. Talia Glove company has commenced. The building will be three stories high and will have the largest hall for lodge room in Beloit.

Samuel G. Conkley, aged 64 years, a soldier in the 142 Illinois Infantry in the Civil war, died yesterday. He had resided in Beloit for twenty-eight years and was a cigar-maker by occupation.

The Broadway speedway continues to afford pleasure for drivers.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Margaret McArthur.

Margaret Jane Kyle, wife of Mr. Duncan McArthur of Bradford, died on Tuesday, February 1st, 1910. She came of Scotch-Irish parentage and was born in the north of Ireland, April 17th, 1835. From early childhood she was connected with the Presbyterian church and later in life became a member of the local Congregational church and so remained until her death. She was united in marriage to Duncan McArthur in 1859 and on the 23rd day of last December they observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Bradford, which they had occupied nearly all of their married life. Five children were born of the marriage, their only son and eldest-born dying in infancy. The four daughters were with their mother at the time of her death: Mrs. T. S. Gilmour of Minneapolis, Mrs. Adams of Vermont, Mrs. P. E. Anderson of Wauwatosa, and Miss Abbie McArthur, who resides with her father. The funeral was held at the family residence this afternoon, Rev. Davidson of Emerald Grove officiating. Interment was made at Johnston Center.

Mrs. McArthur lived a quiet, unostentatious but sincere life, adorning her home with the virtues that make the memory of the Christian mother blessed. Her selfless devotion for the welfare of others was always marked, often reaching to the point of sacrifice. Greatly beloved by all who knew her, and deeply regretted in her death by a wide circle of those who have been made debtors to her bounty of heart and hand, this quiet and honorable woman, with gentleness and rejoicing, has entered into the Kingdom of glory. "Blessed be ye who do it unto one of the least of these ye do it unto me!"

EMPEROR OF CHINA

RULER OF 450,000,000 PEOPLE. Latest picture of the emperor of China as he looks today.

Peking, China.—Carefully guarded from the gaze of the public, the despotic ruler of all China, embracing its 450,000,000 people, lives the life of seclusion. But few people have ever seen the emperor, but those who have been so fortunate say he is a very serious boy, so dignified one would think he realized the weight of his responsibilities.

In Violet and Cream Color. Violet chiffon cloth, the popular winter material for separate blouses, was used for this waist. This was held in very fine tucks below a bias circular band of velvet outlining a tucker or heavy eera lace. The tucks were yoke depth and from thence the chiffon was left free to be gathered into fitted girdle of the velvet at the waist. Over the shoulders and held by another bias strip of velvet was a pleated full of chiffon cloth. The short sleeves were ruffled and gracefully trimmed with a full of the chiffon. The entire blouse was laid over a lining of cream silk.

A Sale Of Towels and Toweling IN REACH OF EVERYBODY

The tendency of all invention and progress is toward giving the people all the comforts and many of the luxuries of life. The cottage of today is better furnished than the castle of a few hundred years ago. How Mary Queen of Scots, or good Queen Bess, would have stared had such goods and prices been shown them in those good old days

AS THESE

We have a Union Huck Towel, color white, 18 in. wide with self border. In pulling out a single woof thread and breaking it, basing our judgment on the strength of that one thread, we think it would take about ten threads twisted together to hold an elephant. This toweling was bought on the old basis and if bought today should sell for 18c per yard. We have a limited quantity of this, possibly 200 yds. Saturday will sell it for, a yd... 13c

Also 250 yards of Union Huck Crash Toweling, self border, 18 in. wide, excellent for kitchen roller towels and will stand very hard wear. This contains a very large percentage of linen. At today's prices it is worth very nearly at wholesale what we are going to sell it for. Buy all you want Saturday for, a yd... 12½c

200 yards of Cotton Huck Toweling, 10 in. wide. It is hard to buy this grade of toweling today at any such figure as we own it. This is worth every cent of 10c of your good money. Buy it Saturday at, a yard... 8c

350 Cotton colored border, honeycombed Towels, 18x36 in. They are good, fine towels, borders blue and red. Will stand hard wear. Buy them Saturday, ea... 7c

20 dozen bleached fine Cotton Huck Towels, pretty red borders, size 18x33 in. and good value at 10c each. Buy them Saturday at... 8c

100 dozen unbleached Turkish Towels, size 13x25 in. In order to get them to retail for the price, we have to buy large cases—too much for the average merchant. Many buy them for wash cloths as they get two cloths from one towel. We offer these at 55c a dozen, or, each... 5c

JOHN D. S. HAND IS NOW SEEN

EVIDENCE IS FOUND THAT ROCKEFELLER IS BEHIND BEEF TRUST.

HARKS BACK TO 1893 PANIC

Former Official of Monopoly Declares Treasures of Two Packing Houses Represent Standard Oil Millions in Big Meat Combine.

New York, Feb. 4.—From a former high official of the beef trust evidence has been unearthed here that reveals the hand of John D. Rockefeller behind the monopoly. According to his story the treasurers of both Armour & Co. and Swift & Co., which control the National Packing Company, the so-called clearing house for the trust, represent Standard Oil interests.

Guards Secret Seventeen Years.
The secret of the financial power back of L. A. Carlton, treasurer of Swift & Co., has been successfully guarded against publicity for nearly seventeen years.

The treasurer of Armour & Co. is Samuel McElbert, who was recently elected vice-president of the National City bank, which is largely dominated by Standard Oil interests. Mr. McElbert became treasurer of Armour & Co. in 1901, the same year that J. Ogden Armour acquired control of the United States Leather Company from John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The mystery which has surrounded this deal is at last dispelled by the discovery that the Rockefeller took Armour & Co. stock for their leather securities and that Mr. McElbert was raised from a subordinate capacity to the treasurer's position to represent the Rockefeller interests.

Were Hard Pressed.

The story of how Standard Oil secretly entered the beef trust dates back to the panic of 1893. Swift & Co. at that time were hard up for money. Gustavus F. Swift, founder of the business, which was incorporated in 1886 with $200,000, tried to borrow from Chicago bankers and failed. L. A. Carlton, who was then a private banker in Chicago, went to Swift and said:

"I can get that money for you from Rockefeller. Let me try."

Carlton succeeded in raising $5,000,000. The capital of Swift & Co. was increased from $7,000,000 to $15,000,000. Just how much of this stock was taken up by Rockefeller at that time is not known, but at the present time it is known that a large portion of the $5,000,000 bonds of Swift & Co. are held by Standard Oil interests.

Stock Pays Seven Per Cent.

As his reward, Carlton became treasurer of Swift & Co., and ever since Swift & Co. has expanded faster than any other packing house in the world, its capital having been increased $10,000,000 in the past twelve years. Ever since 1898 the stock has paid seven per cent.

This tremendous increase of capitalization without the least showing in dividends is regarded by government officials as most significant. At the Chicago inquiry special efforts will be made by the federal prosecutor to show that the price of beef has been going up almost coincidentally with the expansion of stock, not only of Swift & Co. but also of Armour & Co., which now is $20,000,000.

Telephone Company Is Enjoined from Giving Them Service.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 4.—The state struck a vital blow at poolrooms when it obtained a restraining order against the Chamberlain Telephone & Telegraph Company and others, to prevent the operation of a poolroom at Jeffersonville. The state also obtained a receiver for the defendants' property.

This is the first time in the history of the state that the civil authorities have been asked by the state government to declare a poolroom a nuisance and subject to the general laws concerning nuisances.

NO DANGER OF WAR IN NEAR FUTURE

GREEK ASSEMBLY NOT LIKELY TO MEET FOR YEAR AT LEAST.

CRISIS OUT OF QUESTION

British Squadron Sails from Malta. But Admiralty State Fleet Is Not Going to Greece—Is on Practice Cruise.

Athens, Feb. 4.—It is practically certain that the royal message of sanction in the convocation of a national assembly will not be issued before March and that the assembly will not be convened until December.

Any action on the part of the Cretans provocative of a crisis in the near future, therefore, is out of the question. The Greek government has decided to withdraw several diplomatic missions abroad, in accordance with the demands of the military league, but it is understood that the ministers at Constantinople, Sofia and Washington will be retained.

British Warships to Greece.
Malta, Feb. 4.—The British battleship Duncan, flagship of Rear Admiral Sir George Austley-Cullaghan, second in command of the British Mediterranean fleet, and the cruisers Lancaster, Milner and Durham and four torpedo boat destroyers have left here for Piræus, the port of Athens, Greece.

Practice Cruise, Say Officials.
London, Feb. 4.—It was stated at the admiralty that the sailing of the British squadron from Malta was for a practice cruise, and had no bearing whatever upon the political situation in Greece and Crete. It was officially said that the fleet was not going as far east as Piræus.

STRIKES AT GRAIN GAMBLING.
Iowa Dealers Protest Against Board of Trade Methods.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 4.—A blow was struck at the Chicago board of trade in a set of resolutions passed by the Iowa Grain Dealers' association, now in session in Des Moines. The resolution urges the continuance of the fight upon the speculative sort of gambling practiced in Chicago and other grain centers. The farmers are urged never to quit attacking a system which permits men to gamble in grain. The resolutions also endorsed the good roads' movement and favored the federal inspection of grain.

Unrequited Love Results in Double Tragedy at Maryland University.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 4.—Miss Marie Lawson of Portland, Me., a member of the third year class of dentistry at the University of Maryland, was shot and killed by Elijah Hahn Debel, a student of medicine in the same school, who committed suicide by firing a bullet into his breast. The double tragedy was the result of unrequited love, due to religious beliefs.

Debel was a converted Mohammedan and a member of the First Baptist church here.

Chinese Kill French Officer.
Victoria, B. C., Feb. 4.—Deserters from the Chinese army joined a rebel force on the Tientsin border late in December and aided in an attack on French troops, a French captain being killed in the conflict. After the fight the Chinese fled to the hills near Loo-kai. The authorities offered a pardon if they would return, but they refused.

Hoppe Leads Morningstar.
Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 4.—Willie Hoppe, by a run of 53 points in billiards, managed to beat Ora Morningstar out in the second night's play of the 1,600-point match. The score for the night stood: Hoppe 500, Morningstar 405. The score total for the match to date is: Hoppe 1,000, Morningstar 807.

Many Lives Endangered.
Chicago, Feb. 4.—Two men were seriously injured and the lives of 25 passengers were endangered when a huge steel girder on a flat car slipped away part of the Lake street elevated structure of the Chicago & North-western railroad tracks at Rockwell street. THE HEAVENS IN FEBRUARY.

By Professor Eric Doolittle of the University of Pennsylvania.

Halley's Comet may now be seen in a small telescope. On the 5th, 6th and 12th of February several interesting eclipses and transits of the moons of Jupiter may be observed. Orion and its wonderful Betelgeuse.

No one who looks at the sky on a February evening can fail to be struck with the great brilliancy of the constellations now with us. Leo, the last of the bright winter groups, has just appeared, so that now all of the winter stars shine out, casting the Southern sky with the most brilliant constellations of the heavens.

THE FEBRUARY STARS.
Next striking of all is the magnificent U. lon, now high up in the south, with its wonderful nebula at R, Fig. 1; its beautiful reddish star Betelgeuse at A, and its blue star Rigel at C. The former of these two stars is a most remarkable object whose brilliancy and color are continually varying in an irregular manner. Sometimes a great commotion occurs in this great sun of such violence that on one occasion at least, about 50 years ago, it suddenly became the brightest star in the heavens. As is the case with many other variable are the cluster at F and R, the great nebula at S, the double at T and U and the little groups at V and W. The former of these was sometimes called the Fly, though this name was

Mars is still conspicuous in the

The most brilliant planet, Jupiter may be seen rising almost exactly in the east point of the horizon at a little before 11 o'clock, following the star Q, Fig. 1, by just one hour and 50 minutes. On the 5th, 6th and 12th of the month several interesting eclipses and transits of its moons may be observed.

The faint, greenish planet Neptune, which is seldom seen except with large telescopes, is now high up in the heavens, and may be found as follows: On February 1 the planet is exactly 30 minutes below the star X, Fig. 1, so that if on this date the observer will point his telescope carefully at this star and then move it downward just 30 minutes (or an amount equal to the diameter of the moon), the planet will be found exactly in the middle of the field of view. It will appear as a dull, greenish star of about the eighth magnitude, and when found is easily recognized by its light, which is quite unlike starlight. The planet is moving slowly westward and upward, so that by the end of the month it is but 20 minutes below the star, and would come to the middle of the field of the telescope 2 minutes 22 seconds before the star.

THE COMETS.

Halley's comet has now brightened considerably, and may be seen in a small telescope if this is firmly state, the cause of these outbursts is not known, but from a study of its light it is believed that the star is far older than our sun and rapidly approaching the point of extinction. The star Rigel, on the other hand, as well as the magnificent Dog Stars at D and E, are believed to be enormously expanded units, which will not reach the condition of our own sun until after long ages have passed away.

Above Orion and extending across the heavens from west to east are the groups Taurus, with the reddish Aldebaran at H; Gemini, with its twin stars Castor and Pollux, at K and L, and Leo with the bright star Regulus at M. Near Regulus a little companion may be detected with a small telescope of so intensely blue a color that it has been described as appearing as if steeped in indigo.

After looking at this star the observer should turn to the little star in Leo at P, Figs. 1 and 2, which probably is the most intensely red star of the entire heavens. Other interesting objects in a small telescope

NIGHTRIDERS MAKE GRAVE THREATS.

The McClellan Building, Showing Offices of the Burley Tobacco Society and President Clarence L. Bus of the Society.

Lexington, Ky.—Are the night riders after the Burley Tobacco Society and its president?

According to 14 or 18 men, who stopped the night watchman of the McClellan building shortly after midnight Sunday morning, and made threats against the life of Clarence L. Bus, president of the society, and the building in which the society is quartered, there has been night riding in Lexington, and that after the Burley Tobacco Society.

The glass doors of President L. Bus' office, the doors to the executive chamber of the society, and several minor office doors were smashed into splinters, evidently by the parties who met Night Watchman Slebert as they emerged from the building, as the old man was going in. No one heard the men in the building and no one, so far as known, witnessed the destruction of the doors of the society.

The police were notified and upon examination it was found that the men who smashed the doors had evidently entered the offices.

No doors were found open nor could any interior damage be noticed.

According to Night Watchman Slebert the men came out of the building by two. Mr. Slebert was just entering to look after his horse.

As the men emerged one of them, seemingly the leader, inquired of the aged man if he belonged about the building. They were informed that he did.

"Well," replied the leader, "you had better make yourself scarce about here tomorrow night. We are going to blow this Burley Tobacco society building to pieces. We are after Clarence L. Bus and are going to see that we get him."

They then marched up Short street, according to Mr. Slebert, toward Lexington. Their march was by two.

When they disappeared around the corner, according to the watchman, that was the last he saw of them.

They were men of various ages, he said. Some were young and clean shaven. Some were old. They were not drinking. "Drunk men do not go up or come down stairs as they did," he said.

President L. Bus was notified immediately after the happenings and asked if he knew of any clue that might be taken. He replied that he did not and that he was so surprised by the attack upon his offices that he had nothing to say.

A detail of police were sent to the building. Mr. Slebert was closely questioned concerning the description of the men and within an hour after the raiders had left the building plans were laid for a general search of the city and surrounding places.

Shortly before 2 o'clock, Night Chief Jenkins, Patrolman Hale and Doyle, a number of citizens, Capt. J. I. Sams of Company C, State guards, with three members, left the police station in automobiles for a scout about the city.

No reason for the assault upon the offices of the society was given the night watchman by men who made their threats. They did not give a word of explanation. Their hate was simply spoken by their threats upon the society and its president.

Saturday the Burley Tobacco Society was given control of $201,000 in money of the society now in the Winchester banks. This money had been the occasion of suits in the courts. Not a man of the crowd expressed to the aged watchman where they might have come from.

A suggestion that the raid was the work of Winchester or Clark county men indignantly at their repeated defeat in law suits by the Burley society was scorned by the Burley people.

Whether the men came into the town on horseback, whether they walked or whether they were from the confines of the city itself could not be learned.

Penalty of High Position.

He who is raised so much above his fellow-creatures as to be the object of their terror must suffer for it in losing all the comforts of society. He is a solitary being in the midst of crowds. He keeps them at a distance, and they equally shun him. Fear and affection cannot live together.—Exchange.

They then marched up Short street, according to Mr. Slebert, toward Lexington. Their march was by two.

When they disappeared around the corner, according to the watchman, that was the last he saw of them.

They were men of various ages, he said. Some were young and clean shaven. Some were old. They were not drinking. "Drunk men do not go up or come down stairs as they did," he said.

President L. Bus was notified immediately after the happenings and asked if he knew of any clue that might be taken. He replied that he did not and that he was so surprised by the attack upon his offices that he had nothing to say.

A detail of police were sent to the building. Mr. Slebert was closely questioned concerning the description of the men and within an hour after the raiders had left the building plans were laid for a general search of the city and surrounding places.

MISSING BRIDE SOUGHT FAR AND NEAR.

Chicago, Ill.—The mystery surrounding the "missing bride," as the case of Mrs. Georgia Tate German has become known, still continues to baffles the police and numerous private detectives. The mother, Mrs. V. G. Tate, 1702 La Salle avenue, is prostrated with grief.

It was on December 7 that Mrs. German with her husband disappeared, German saying he was going east to effect a reconciliation with his father, a wealthy silk manufacturer.

Since then nothing has been heard from them. An envelope was received by Mrs. Tate, who is a wealthy southern woman, addressed in her daughter's handwriting, but it contained only four telegraph blanks without writing.

On the back, in German's hand was written "Return to William German, 4200 Adams street." There is no such number.

What is the solution of the mystery of this letter?

"We have learned that German was a waiter at De Jonghe's restaurant," said W. G. Satter, 145 La Salle street, Mrs. Tate's agent, who has been conducting the search for her daughter. "He said that he was the son of a rich man and he quite captivated Mrs. Tate. They eloped and were married after an acquaintance of only a week. We have found no trace of any couple answering their description buying railroad tickets for the east since December 7."

Literary Accident.

"Hear about Perkins? Pretty tough."

"No. What?" "The poor fellow dropped into the vernacular, hurped against a hard word and split his infinitive."—Life.

To Banish Hate.

Chloride of lime is infallible; it should be put down the rat-holes and spread about wherever they are likely to appear.

QUITE ALONE.

Judge—Was there any other person with you in this? Did you commit the robbery—quite alone?

Prisoner—Alone, quite alone, Judge. You see, the trouble about having a partner in an affair like this is that you can never tell whether he is honest or not.

Money Merely a Pedestal.

Money may be a pedestal to stand on, as we look up, but not a god for us to worship. And indeed is the lot of him who, making the world his chief good, gains the world and loses himself, his true spiritual self, in which life attains a divine fulfillment.

Rheumatism Comes From Bad Kidneys

Once Your Kidneys Work Properly, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease and Bladder Trouble Disappear. How to Cure Yourself.

It is no longer necessary to spend months and months undergoing a complicated treatment for rheumatism, kidney or bladder trouble, or spend a good many dollars in doctors' bills.

A new treatment can now be obtained which seems to act more like a natural process than a medicine. This treatment has produced such satisfactory results in a short time that it is now guaranteed from first to last.

There should be no more doubt about the rapid cure of rheumatism, no trace of the fatal complication of trencherous kidney disease or dropsy.

Rheumatism means nothing more nor less than that your kidneys do not work properly. Your blood passes through the kidneys hundreds of times a day to be filtered and purified. When the kidneys are weak, the poisons are not taken out of the blood as they should be. This leads to various diseases, such as rheumatism, bladder trouble, diabetes, dropsy and bladder trouble.

The new guaranteed treatment is Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills. It is a natural process, and it gives their remarkable effect.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, which says: "When I feel bad in my back, I take a couple of Derby's Kidney Pills and get immediate relief."

If you have rheumatism anywhere, back, joints, chest, foot, wrist, pains in the head, der, kidney disease or diabetes, put your whole confidence in Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, and you will not be disappointed.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are sold at all drug stores—50 pills—in 10 day treatment—25 cents, or we will send them direct from the laboratory of Derby Medicine Co., Dept. 7, Eaton Rapids, Mich., prepaid if you wish. If you want to try them first, just tell your druggist to give you a free sample medicine.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"I AM none of those who—"

"Welcome the coming, speed the parting guest! I am naturally, beforehand, shy of novelties—now looks, now fashions—new years—new some mental twist which makes it difficult in me to face the prospective."

Do you feel that way at all?

To a certain extent I do.

But I am very much ashamed that I do and very sorry for all who are of the same mind with the old essayist and me, for much as I have Charles Lamb I think that dread of change is a very wrong attitude and one very perilous to happiness.

Let me tell you my own experience along that line.

I do not think I have ever approached a change in the routine of my life without dread, and yet so far I can truthfully say that I have never passed through a change in the routine of my life which has not left me happier in the end.

I can remember, for instance, how I hated to leave my high school days behind—how sad I felt to think that when the pupils gathered next year I would not be among them.

And yet I was far happier at college.

I can remember how I dreaded to leave my college home—what a painful day Commencement was to me and how many tears I shed at breaking off the old friendship, discontinuing the familiar routine and leaving the old haunts.

And yet I have been far happier since in my work.

Several men whom by unexpected changes in business conditions at one time or another in their lives have been jolted out of comfortable nooks and sent to hunt for new opportunities, have since told me that had it not been for the changes which at the time they have lived to look back and bless them.

A woman who some years ago was obliged to take up her household goods from the home where she had lived the first thirty years of her life and transplant them to a distant city, and was at the time thought herself almost heartbroken, has since confessed that the happiest years of her life have, after all, been spent in the land of her adoption.

A girl who once worked in an office, under what she regarded at the time as ideal conditions, and who was obliged by circumstances to leave that pleasant sheltered niche and strike out into the world, admitted to me the other day that the change she thought so bitter at the time she has come to know as a blessing, because it brought her into touch with the opportunity to do infinitely better work.

I am afraid I shall never reach the point where the first contemplation of a change will not strike some dismay to my heart, but I think I have reached the stage where I always try to argue myself out of this foolish attitude.

And I think anyone who is inclined to dread changes should try to do the same.

Does some change threaten you?—a change of management in the business interests you serve, a change of position, a new mode of living, the end of some particular phase of your existence, a change of residence, the necessity for making new friends or doing some new kind of work.

Then remember what has happened to other people and do not let yourself be depressed. Remember that the very road you are dreading to enter may be the highway to the greatest happiness of your life.

And take with you as you go forward some words I have learned to say to myself when I also come to an unexpected and undesired turn of the road:

"The old order changeth yielding place to new,

And God fulfills himself in many ways."

Let one good custom should corrupt the world."

—Tennyson.

Mrs. Quinn's Philosophy

Mrs. Quinn looked tired when I dropped in for the cup of tea she always offers me. She seemed too full of her thoughts to talk, so I held my peace and looked about at the elegant small room, bright with picture cards and candle efforts and adornment, and with a wholesome cleanliness that is not always met with in the small crowded homes of the district in which she lives.

She was waiting to give thanks for health to me, the work that her lot in life called for and I felt to thinking that perhaps half the trouble among the very poor lies at the door of physical inability to cope with the domestic problems. Mrs. Quinn seemed to be gathering her thoughts for an effort and I was ready for any confession when she broke out with:

"Ma'am, dear, tell me what ye think of arrestin' a lad for playin' in the only place the city leaves him?"

"Oh, I'm not crazy," I responded to my amazed look, "an' I just wonder."

"I was over to me neighbor's across the road today with the office man an' got her lad. Sure it was a heart-breaking time, ma'am. The boy seems not to be a bad lad, but he's at the age when all young unlikin' are full of divilment an' he got to climb 'bout the curs in the yards. Sure there is no place for a b'c some of them places where he is always belted, an' he gets to thinkin' it's a joke to be chased. Sort of a game like this ball playin' fella's, an' the smartest an' quickest gals away. It's always the stumblin' worthless kid that gets caught, my Jimmy says, but perhaps he is not knowin'."

"An' the laddy tells who was with him an' the fat gals taken in, an' the judge lets him an' his mother to go."

"I'm sure you're right, ma'am, but the judge lets him to go, an' the judge lets him to go, an' the judge lets him to go."

"I'm sure you're right, ma'am, but the judge lets him to go, an' the judge lets him to go, an' the judge lets him to go."

LETTER CARRIER SHOTS TWO; KILLS HIMSELF

Crazed with Jealousy He Attacks Wife and Her Father in Busy Street.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 4.—Sandra Morrison, one of the oldest letter carriers at the Omaha post office, in a jealous rage shot and fatally wounded his wife, Lillian, and his father-in-law, J. H. Summer, and then blew his own brains out. The shooting took place on one of the busiest corners of the city and was witnessed by hundreds of people.

Morrison has been insanely jealous of his wife for several years and some time ago tried to induce her to enter a suicide compact with him but she refused. Last week he attacked the woman with a hatchet but she escaped and went to her father's home to reside.

Morrison called at the home and together with Mrs. Morrison and the latter's father started for a lawyer's office to arrange a divorce.

On reaching the corner of Fifteenth street and Capitol avenue Morrison suddenly jerked a pistol from his pocket and began firing at the woman. The father interposed and received a bullet in the eye. Mrs. Morrison was shot in the neck. Morrison then placed the gun against his forehead and sent a bullet through his own brain.

FINDS $70,000; REWARD IS $35.

Pressman Bares Secret Den and Reveals Stolen Securities.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Stolen property valued at $70,000 accidentally was unearthed and the secret treasure den of the thieves discovered under a rear stairway of a building at 341-51 Dearborn street.

Detectives had been searching many weeks for the property, which consisted of securities belonging to the Cress Publishing Company, and stolen from the company's vaults during the Christmas holidays.

Harry Reese is given credit for the recovery of the valuables. He is a pressman in the Dearborn street building. He was in quest of some copper plates stolen from his employers when he accidentally uncovered the loot.

Dugal Cress, head of the publishing company, said he would give Reese $35 as a reward for his discovery.

TO MAKE GEN. GRANT A VETERAN

Declared He Was Messenger for His Father at Vicksburg.

Washington, Feb. 4.—A movement has been started to make Maj. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant a veteran of the civil war. It is proposed to accomplish this by legislation. It would be necessary for congress to pass a law permitting the secretary of war to muster Gen. Grant into the service and muster him out at once.

A memorial was laid before the senate by Vice-President Sherman from U. S. Grant G. A. R. post of Brooklyn strongly urging that Gen. Grant be made a veteran of the civil war. It is declared that as a lad of 13 he served as messenger for his father during the siege of Vicksburg.

DIE SURROUNDED BY JEWELS.

Couple Is Found After They Had Been Dead Five Weeks.

Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—The dead bodies of William Bohrer, a lapidary, and an unidentified woman were found in Bohrer's room.

There is every indication that the couple had been dead for fully five weeks. Yet there is not the slightest indication of foul play. There was no confusion in the rooms or any sign of a struggle, and scattered about were thousands of dollars' worth of precious stones, watches and other jewelry. The police admit that they have no theory to offer.

A Clever New Creation.

Four very important new features, as follows, actually appear in the interesting new creation now known to grocers as Dr. Schupp's Health Coffee:

1st—Is the Economy—gives two-thirds farther than real coffee and costs less than 10c per pound.

2nd—Both health and general strength follow its use, for pure toasted, granulated, malt, etc., etc., are alone used in this wonderful food-like drink.

3rd—Not a grain of real coffee is in it, and yet the color, taste and flavor are amazingly close to that of genuine old Java and Mocha coffees.

4th—"Made in a minute"—No 20 to 30 minutes tedious boiling is at all necessary.

A 50c package, 1½ pounds, gives 104 full cups of this delicious drink. Write Dr. Schupp, Racine, Wis., for his free booklet, Coffee Facts.

FIVE CENT PIECES NECESSARY COINS

Nickel Stands for More Fixed Values
Than Any Other Denomination.

Officials of the treasury department
sometimes discuss the nation's somewhat cumbersome coinage and make suggestions to one another that this or that change might bring relief to the working forces of the department.
Generally these discussions do not go beyond the inner circle where they originate, no change is made or even suggested seriously and the work of the mint goes on as before.

Recently, however, the fact looked out that the five cent piece, or "nickel,"
had been used in discussion and
that the government might act conspicuously to pass a law eliminating it from the national coinage. Small though the nickel exists or ever did exist
that such a step would be taken, but for a short space of time considerable anxiety developed in all parts of the country lest the useful and popular
"nickel" should disappear from the circulating medium.

The fact is the government could afford to dispense with almost any coin rather than the five cent piece.
It stands for more stable prices than any other. It is the price of a loaf of bread; it pays the cost of the ride in the street car; with it the German buys his glass of beer and the American pays for the shilling of his shoes.
It is probably not too much to say that the disappearance of the "nickel"
would prove a greater shock to the finances of the nation than almost anything that could happen.

The five cent coin for two generations at least has been the fixed price
of so many things that the people would be at complete loss how to proceed without it. Time, hundreds of thousands of five cent pieces are lost
each year, but that is due largely to the amazing ease to which this little coin is put. The loss of business requires the change of a greater number of "nickels" than any other coin.

It has been said that its universal use as the price of a fare on the street cars is the cause of its retention,
but that can hardly be so, as it enters very largely into the price of so many other things that it could not be dispensed with if the price of the car fare were changed.

The "nickel" is extensively used in telephone calls. It was formerly more than now the open sesame of the popular slot machine, for which it still does extensive duty. It is the price of admission to the fast multiplying picture shows in all parts of the country. The new fashioned boot shining parlor charges a "nickel." The saloon-keeper and the baker for years
have gathered their daily harvest of these little coins. The soda fountain, growing in popular favor, deals mostly in "nickels." Ice cream in summer time goes for five cents, and the charge for a myriad of things in the pharmacy five-cent store requires this coin.

Most smokers would have to quit
were it not for the "nickel," obviously as the domestic cigar is to many of them. The cigar would come to be the popular smoke if it were the price of five cents. It is the price of other luxuries at a higher price or even payment in pennies.
Turn which way one will, the five-cent piece, back up at every turn as
the most necessary coin of the realm.
The disappearance would inevitably increase the cost of a thousand things
of everyday life, which no dealer now has the daring to change because of loyal custom. There is no likelihood that the government will soon
consider the elimination of this coin,
as such action would result in a howl
of disapproval nation wide.

BAD MIX-UP ON THE STREETS YESTERDAY

F. H. Green & Son's Delivery Horse
Ran into C. J. Ormsbee's Cutter at Main and Milwaukee Streets.

A horse attached to a sleigh used by F. H. Green & Son's for delivery purposes dashed madly down East
Milwaukee street yesterday afternoon
and turning off onto Main street
struck a cutter in which C. J. Orms-bee and a companion were riding, and runaway came so quickly that neither Ormsbee nor his companion had time to turn the horses out or get out of the way. Luckily for them, both men escaped without a scratch, but the sleigh was badly damaged. The pole
was broken off and the body banged up and smashed. The runaway attracted considerable attention and caused
no little excitement and when the cutter was struck quite a crowd collected. Ormsbee's horses were caught before they had a chance to run.

ISSUE A WARNING TO GENERAL PUBLIC

State Department at Washington
Takes Up the Spanish Swindle Again.

In the following circular received by the Chicago from the State department
at Washington, the so-called "Spanish Swindle" is again brought to the attention of the public in the following manner:

The Department of State, at Washington, has received a report from the American consul-general at Barcelona,
Spain, in regard to the band of swindlers operating in various towns and cities in Spain, who make a practice of writing to persons in the United States respecting the imprisonment of a relative and the guardianship of a child.

The consul-general states that the alleged prisoner generally describes himself as a political prisoner from Cuba; he is at the point of death and has but one friend—the prison priest—
through whose good offices he is enabled to smuggle an occasional letter
out of the prison.

The prisoner is rich. He has a fortune in cash on deposit in the United States, but the certificate of deposit is enclosed in a secret receptacle of his value; the value itself has been taken possession of by the court at Barcelona, which tried and condemned him, and will be held until the prisoner or his representative has satisfied the costs of the trial. The prisoner has an only daughter; dying
in his prison, his sole thought is of this beloved daughter. He has no friend or relative in Spain to whom he can commit her. In this emergency his thoughts turn to the distant relative in the United States
whom he has never seen and of whom he knows only through hearsay of the family tree. Will the distant relative assume the guardianship of the darling daughter, and the darling daughter's fortune of about $10,000? If the distant relative accepts the trust of one-fourth of the prisoner's entire fortune will be the material reward. The good priest will go at once to the United States and take the darling daughter with him. There is but one condition: the ready money which the prisoner brought with him to Spain
has been exhausted; the distant relative is therefore requested to send enough to liberate the value containing the secret receptacle and the certificate of deposit. This money is to be sent to the good priest at an address indicated, and, having received
it, the good priest will at once secure the value and start for America, the "land of the free and the home of the brave," with the darling daughter.

The above is generally the first letter of the series. It is quickly followed by another in which the prisoner pathetically states that his strength
is rapidly failing and the end is near.
He beseeches his dear distant relative to assume the trust and be a loving father to the darling daughter. The third letter is from the good priest
himself, who in brief touching terms,
and hopelessly bad English, announces
the death of the unhappy prisoner;
the good priest adds that the darling daughter is under his care. He is ready to put his promise into execution and start for the United States
as soon as he shall have received the necessary funds from the distant relative. The good priest frequently includes with his letter a bogus newspaper clipping announcing the death
in prison at Barcelona of the famous Cuban patriot; the newspaper notice
also speaks cunningly of the confident, valued and the darling daughter.
It is a simple scheme, but presented in such a plausible way that almost any unsuspicious "distant relative"
of European extraction would be more or less deceived by the glad prospect of falling heir to the agreeable en-tury of a darling daughter with a big fortune, and a one-fourth interest
therein as an additional recompense.

Naturally the first impulse of the distant relative is to ask a lawyer or
a judge or some authority what course
he ought to pursue in the premises,
but as he thinks of doing this his attention is taken by the warning in the prisoner's letter beseeching him not to mention the matter to any living soul
lest the secret of the value and the hidden receptacle be inadvertently disclosed.

The value, after all, with its concealed certificate of deposit, is the key to the situation and possession
must be taken of it before anything can be done or said. This too countingly set forth by the prisoner is very evident to the distant relative,
and so he quite frequently preserves
the secret intact, and instead of consulting a lawyer or writing to the American consul-general at Barcelona
he quietly sends a draft for the sum demanded to the good priest and waits awaiting results. Of course he waits
in vain, and the poor, dead prisoner
and the good priest and the darling
daughter in the course of time pass
out of his life forever, leaving him
only an uncomfortable memory of the money he so cheerfully contributed to the confidence game.

For nearly twenty years these same knaves have been practicing their swindle, and it is needless to suggest that they are very carefully organized;
they have confederates not only in the United States but in most other countries. The confederates in question select a man and find out all they can about him; they get hold of family
names, family origin, and family characteristics. This information is transmitted to the rascals in Spain
and letters are at once written to the prospective victim. The scheme is presented and developed in a very plausible way and many of our followers have "bitten" promptly
and cheerfully.

Under the Spanish laws a felony
must be committed before the police may act, and a mere attempt to obtain money by false pretenses does not appear to warrant arrest. The presenting witness must be present
in propria persona to testify; otherwise prosecution would be useless.
Recently the letters written to the distant relative have varied somewhat
from the original; the political prisoner having become a noted Russian banker who absconded, leaving a deposit of some millions of roubles, killed
in a quarrel in England another Russian, and finally took refuge in Spain,

where he was apprehended and
charged with manslaughter.
This change of character, however,
is immaterial, and in the future more
new characters will probably be introduced by the gang. The scheme is the same, and the public is warned to place no credence in such or similar letters.

Every effort has been made by the Department of State and its representatives in Spain to unmask these swindlers and bring them to justice,
and the Spanish authorities have also been active and several members of the gang have been apprehended and held for trial, but so far no convincing results, owing probably to the peculiarity of the Spanish law referred to in the report of the consul-general at Barcelona.

TOBACCO BUYERS IN THE COUNTRY BUSY

Picking Up Crops in Many Sections
on Fast as Possible.

Tobacco men are watching the weather closely these days. According to the Edgerton Reporter, the buying of last season's crop is proceeding quickly without much help from the larger operators. While the aggregate sales each week now do not reach very large amounts it is all the more reducing the already well into the crop which is already well into the last quarter of the season. The prices of the crop are generally range
between 7 and 8c for the higher grades,
and for the lower grades, low grades
of the new crop are being contracted for quite freely from pickers for both exporting and cutting purposes, but generally at lower figures than a year ago.

There is some movement in old leaf
but business has not yet reached the old-time activity. N. Gilliam of York, Pa., has purchased about 200 cases
from local pickers during the week.
A. S. Flagg purchased a dozen of
'08 of E. S. Nativitz at Cottage
Grove, also 14 acres of the '09 crop.
Most business, however, is conducted
on small orders.

Deliveries are now in progress at all the receiving points as fast as shipping facilities will warrant, and warehouse handling is also being crowded along with what both the pickers are able to command. The United opened their warehouses at Leola and Cushton this week and T. B. Earle one at Readstown and McIntosh Bros. & A.
Cohn & Co. their third at Stoughton.
The shipments out of storage reach
from this market to all points for the week.

What are termed low-grades, which include filler, ragged bladders and trash of the new crop are bringing slightly lower prices this year than usual, nor is the demand as strong as some other seasons when the "cutters" were active competitors for this class of leaf. Prices are so low, so that the exporters may have a chance to get a portion of the crop to export whereas for a few seasons past they have been pretty well crowded out of the market by the strong competition of domestic manufacturers of stripped stock. Whenever low grade domestic tobacco can be obtained
cheap enough there is an unlimited outlet for it in an export market, but the price was always the determining factor, and until recent years a very large proportion of Wisconsin fillers sought that market. But since the development of the combination sticking and chewing business to such large proportions the home demand
has so largely absorbed these goods
and the price advanced that exporters are looking for new countries for their supply. Now they see a chance to do a more extensive business in the cheaper grades of domestic leaf.

The Optimist's Corner

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A. M., M. D.

"Colds" are always infectious. The source of infection can be discovered in more than 90 per cent. of cases. The period of incubation is usually less than twenty-four hours and almost always less than forty-eight hours. Only very rarely is it as much as four or five days. Possibly these differences in the time it takes a "cold" to develop may be caused by a variation of micro-organisms in different cases. The infection must be fairly concentrated, as in a badly-ventilated room, church, or railway car, and must be continued for twenty minutes or half an hour. Whether a person be hot or cold, wet or dry, does not at all influence his liability of "catching cold." The important point is the dose of the infection.

As for treatment, the best that can be done for a patient is to place him in the open air or in a room with a good thorough draught. The reason, apart from the obvious improvement in general health resulting from such a force, is that a "cold" is a disease in which a patient re-infects himself again and again if shut in the confined space of an ordinary living room.

The best means of preventing a "cold" are: Never sit in a room that is not thoroughly ventilated, and avoid especially any room occupied by a person suffering from a "cold."

She had invited Mrs. Ambrose Person and Miss Jennie Parker to stay with her over night. Before retiring Mr. Dunn filled the stove with coal, leaving the ladies to regulate it. Through some misadventure the dampers were left in such a position as to throw gas into the room. Upon retiring the ladies found it impossible to sleep and complained to each other of feeling strangely. After a while one of them arose and went into the room where the stove was and fell upon the floor, senseless; another in attempting to go to her rescue shared a like fate, and the third had strength enough to reach the door and call Mr. Dunn, when she also fainted. Assistance was rendered and the ladies restored to consciousness and are better today, though still suffering from the effects of the gas inhaled. It was a narrow escape from death.

Hay and straw are in abundance on the market today.

MAKE STOMACH TROUBLE VANISH BY TAKING A LITTLE DIAPEPSIN

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, Headache and other distress will go in five minutes.

If you had some Diapepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays-like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour eructs, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating diarrhoea, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drugstore waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

The Carat in business.

The weight of a carat is four grains Troy, but the value of a diamond carat is an uncertain quantity, depending on the quality, purity, cutting and size of the stone.

Is Your Store Management Weakest in Its Publicity Department?

You would not allow any one to persuade you to close your store for a few days or a few weeks now and then. You would not even try to hire clerks for an "occasional" day or two of service. But who is it that induces you to conduct your store advertising on that plan—the plan of adequate advertising now and then, and perhaps almost complete suspension of advertising at other times?
